TOM IRELAND HOUSE
21 miles South of Austin, Bastrop Co., Texas.
Bastrop
Webberville Vic.

Owner: Banks McLaurin, Austin, Texas.

Date of Erection: Early 1840's

Builder: Unknown

Architect: Unknown

Present Condition: Poor

Number of Stories: One

Materials of Construction: Cedar Logs

Other Existing Records: None

Additional Data:

This is the most typical "dog-run" house in this section of the State. It is built of cedar logs, consists of two rooms divided by an open passage. One of the rooms contains a fireplace of brick, which, in all probability, replaces the original one built of mud and sticks. The roof is of cypress shingles and is not the original covering. The roof pitch is about six to twelve.

The house is one of the oldest in the locality.

According to recollections of the oldest inhabitants of the vicinity, the house was occupied by Tom Ireland, who was no relative to Gov. Ireland. The builder is unknown.

The information was supplied by Mr. H.L. Manor, Webberville, Texas.
